

Low-power FM radio in many developing countries has proven to be a powerful tool in getting citizens, especially young people, involved in the political processes that shape our lives. Declining political participation is arguably achieving crisis proportions in the US. Please support the opportunity of LPFM to operate in America!